BIOGRAPHY

Thomas Letellier is a French director of photography. Marked by the culture of his continent of birth, Africa, from which he draws part of his artistic sensibility and his inspiration, he today signs with talent the photography of various projects, whether in fiction, documentary, music video or advertisement.

After some experiences as an assistant, Thomas began to collaborate as director of fiction photography, notably with the feature films Bluesbreaker by Dominique Brenguier, Louise Wimmer, a multi-awarded film by Cyril Mennegun, which received the César and the Louis Delluc Prize for Best first film among twelve other awards and thirty-six nominations, La Pirogue by Moussa Touré, selected at the Critics' Week at the Cannes Film Festival and awarded the Best Film and Best Photography awards at the Festival de la Francophonie, Mains Armées and Victor & Célia by Pierre Jolivet, Bodybuilder et Chocolat by Roschdy Zem, La Consolation by Cyril Mennegun, or Zépon by Gilles Elie-dit-Cosaque, currently in post-production. He also regularly participates in documentary projects, most recently with the Arte series Les Routes de l'Esclavage, directed by Daniel Cattier, Juan Gélas and Fanny Glissant.

Meanwhile, Thomas Letellier has signed the photography of numerous music videos, for artists from all backgrounds such as Mano Negra, Féloche, Manu Chao, Oxmo Puccino, Laurent Wolf, Laurent Voulzy, Dionysos, Tryo, Philippe Katerine, Yannick Noah, Mathieu Chedid, Olivia Ruiz, BB Brunes, Julian Perreta or more recently Jeanne Added and Thérapie Taxi. He also puts his talent at the service of advertising projects.

Thomas has just finished filming a television trilogy titled Esprit d'Hiver directed by Cyril Mennegun.

BIOGRAPHIE

Thomas Letellier est un directeur de la photographie français. Marqué par la culture de son continent de naissance, l'Afrique, d'où il puise une partie de sa sensibilité artistique et de son inspiration, il signe aujourd'hui avec talent la photographie de projets variés, que ce soit en fiction, documentaire, clip musical ou publicité.

Après quelques expériences comme assistant, Thomas commence à collaborer comme directeur de la photographie en fiction, avec notamment les longs-métrages Bluesbreaker de Dominique Brenguier, Louise Wimmer, film multiprimé de Cyril Mennegun, qui a reçu le César et le Prix Louis Delluc du Meilleur premier film parmi douze autres récompenses et trente-six nominations, La Pirogue de Moussa Touré, sélectionné à la Semaine de la Critique du Festival de Cannes et récompensé des prix du Meilleur Film et Meilleure Photographie au Festival de la Francophonie, Mains Armées et Victor & Célia de Pierre Jolivet, Bodybuilder et Chocolat de Roschdy Zem, La Consolation de Cyril Mennegun, ou encore Zépon de Gilles Elie-dit-Cosaque, actuellement en post-production. Il participe par ailleurs régulièrement à des projets documentaires, comme récemment avec la série Arte Les Routes de l'Esclavage, réalisée par Daniel Cattier, Juan Gélas et Fanny Glissant.

En parallèle, Thomas Letellier a signé la photographie de nombreux clips musicaux, pour des artistes de tous horizons comme Mano Negra, Féloche, Manu Chao, Oxmo Puccino, Laurent Wolf, Laurent Voulzy, Dionysos, Tryo, Philippe Katerine, Yannick Noah, Mathieu Chedid, Olivia Ruiz, BB Brunes, Julian Perreta ou plus récemment Jeanne Added et Thérapie Taxi. Il met également son talent au service de projets de publicité.

Thomas vient de terminer le tournage d'une trilogie pour la télévision intitulée Esprit d'Hiver et réalisée par Cyril Mennegun.
